4. WITHHOLDING INSTRUCTIONS

- Any amount that you could withdraw without requesting a hardship withdrawal may be eligible for rollover to another eligible retirement plan or IRA, and will be subject to mandatory 20% withholding. (Does not apply to nonspousal beneficiaries.)
- Any amounts that are not eligible for rollover will be subject to 10% federal tax withholding of any taxable amount by VALIC Retirement Services Company unless you request otherwise below. In addition, any distribution to you will be taxable in the year received and may be subject to an additional 10% tax penalty if you are under age 59½. If you choose not to have taxes withheld, interest and penalties may be imposed by the IRS for any under-withholding. State withholding may be subject to a 5% administrative default rate when state withholding is requested and no withholding amount is designated.
- Notice to non-residents: A payment to an address outside of the United States may be withheld at a 30% rate unless the payee submits a completed IRS Form W-8BEN and the amount is eligible for reduced withholding.
- For any 457 plan except Governmental 457(b) plans, where consistent with your employer's plan, VALIC Retirement Services Company will apply wage bracket withholding based on the information you provide on your IRS Form W-4. A current IRS Form W-4 must be attached to this request. Wage bracket withholding does not apply to beneficiary accounts.

SPECIAL TAX NOTICE

You have the right to at least 30 days to consider your alternatives after receiving this notice. You may waive this review period. Your signature on this form will indicate that either you have had this 30-day review or that you have chosen to waive it, and you are requesting an immediate distribution.

ELIGIBLE ROLLOVER DISTRIBUTIONS

The information in this notice applies to qualified plans, tax-deferred annuity arrangements, IRAs, and governmental 457(b) deferred compensation plans. Generally, the rules below that apply to payments to employees also apply to surviving spouses and alternate payees. Most withdrawals from tax-favored retirement plans are eligible for rollover either to an IRA or to another plan if the receiving plan accepts such rollovers. Some plans do not accept rollovers of certain types of distributions. Check with the administrator of that plan about whether the plan accepts rollovers and, if so, the types of rollover distributions it accepts. Roth 403(b) and 401(k) accounts may be rolled over to other Roth accounts or to a Roth IRA. However, Roth IRAs may not be rolled over to a Roth 403(b) or 401(k) account.

ROLLOVERS OF BENEFICIARY ACCOUNTS

Only (1) the participant, or, (2) in the case of the participant's death, the participant's surviving spouse, or (3) in the case of a domestic relations order, the participant's spouse or ex-spouse may roll over a distribution into a plan of the participant's own. An exception to this rule is that a non-spousal beneficiary may, subject to plan provisions, roll inherited funds from an eligible retirement plan into a Beneficiary IRA. A Beneficiary IRA is an IRA created for the sole purpose of receiving funds inherited by non-spousal beneficiaries of eligible retirement plans. The distribution must be transferred to the Beneficiary IRA in a direct "trustee-to-trustee" transfer. Beneficiary IRAs must meet the distribution requirements relating to IRAs inherited by non-spousal beneficiaries under Code sections 408(a)(6) and (b)(3) and 401(a)(9).

DISTRIBUTABLE EVENT

Generally a distributable event includes attainment of age 59½ (age 70½ for 457(b) plans), separation from service, disability (does not apply to 457(b) plans) or death. However, the employer's plan may place additional restrictions that must also be met prior to a distribution. If you have met a distributable event, you may request a rollover of funds to any eligible plan type or a transfer to a like plan type. If you wish to move funds from your VALIC 403(b) account to another 403(b) account via a rollover distribution, and have made contributions prior to 01-01-87, those amounts may lose a grandfathered status that can impact future required distributions. However, movement of funds from your VALIC 403(b) account to another 403(b) account via a transfer distribution may retain the status. For more information, please call 1-800-448-2542.

ROLLOVER/TRANSFER

Rollover Distributions: If you have met a distributable event on your eligible account(s) or plan you may roll directly to an eligible retirement plan with another carrier. The distribution will not be taxed but will be reported to the IRS. Rollover amounts due to a distributable event generally can remain free of withdrawal restrictions after moving to the receiving plan, unless the receiving plan applies restrictions to rollover amounts.

Transfers: Transfers to a like plan will not be taxed or reported to the IRS. Generally, transfers are allowed regardless of employment status. However, your employer's plan may restrict you to authorized carriers. Transferred amounts generally become subject to the requirements of the plan receiving the transfer as though originally contributed to that plan. Exchanges of Non-Qualified Deferred Annuities are not taxed but will be reported to the IRS.

EXAMPLES OF SOME POSSIBLE DIFFERENCES IN PLAN RESTRICTIONS

- The new plan may require spousal consent or plan administrator approval for distributions.
- The new plan may restrict distributions.
- Distributions from a governmental 457(b) deferred compensation plan are generally not subject to the 10% premature withdrawal penalty regardless of your age at the time of the distribution. If you roll your governmental 457(b) deferred compensation plan to another plan that is not a governmental 457(b) deferred compensation plan, or into an IRA, any subsequent distributions may be subject to a 10% premature withdrawal penalty.
- Eligible rollovers into a governmental 457(b) deferred compensation plan that were previously subject to a 10% premature withdrawal penalty will continue to be subject to that penalty at the time of withdrawal unless you are over age 59½ or some other exception applies.

- Amounts rolled over to a governmental 457(b) plan generally cannot be withdrawn prior to separation from service or attainment of age 70½.

ELIGIBLE ROLLOVER DISTRIBUTIONS PAID DIRECTLY TO YOU

You can request that we pay you directly. Except for IRA distributions, when we pay you directly, federal law requires us to withhold 20% for federal income taxes.

If a distribution is paid directly to you, you may subsequently roll over any pre-tax contributions to another employer-sponsored plan or to an IRA within 60 days. Any distributions of after-tax contributions paid directly to you may not be rolled over to another employer-sponsored plan. However, they may subsequently be rolled over to an IRA within 60 days.

If your eligible rollover distribution is paid directly to you and not rolled over (including any amount withheld), the distribution will be taxable to you in the year you receive it. The distribution will not be taxable to the extent you roll other funds to replace the amount distributed and the amount withheld.

AMOUNTS NOT ELIGIBLE FOR ROLLOVER

Some amounts not eligible for rollover include these: amounts paid from a non-qualified (after-tax) annuity that is not part of your employer's plan, financial hardship withdrawals, required minimum distributions, deemed distributions due to loan default, and amounts paid from certain deferred compensation plans. If you direct us to pay the distribution to you, and it is not an eligible rollover distribution, we will apply 10% federal income tax withholding unless you indicate differently.

LOANS

If your plan specifies and you request a 100% withdrawal, the account balance will be reduced by the outstanding loan balance. The offset loan amount will be reported as a taxable distribution to you and will be taxable to you unless you roll over an amount equal to the outstanding loan balance to an employer-sponsored plan or IRA. An amount equal to 20% of the outstanding loan balance will be withheld from your distribution for federal taxes. You may choose to pay off the outstanding loan balance prior to the 100% withdrawal.

10% PENALTY

Unless an exception applies, the IRS may also assess a 10% federal tax penalty for early distributions if you are younger than age 59½.

SPECIAL TAX TREATMENT FOR CERTAIN LUMP-SUM DISTRIBUTIONS

If you were born before January 1, 1936, and if your qualified plan distribution qualified as a "lump-sum distribution," you may be entitled to special tax treatment regarding your payment.

TAXATION OF ROTH IRAS AND ROTH ACCOUNTS

Contributions to Roth IRAs and Roth accounts are not deductible and therefore are distributed tax-free at any time. Rollovers or conversions from a traditional IRA or a pre-tax eligible retirement plan to a Roth IRA are taxable in the year of the distribution. Earnings which accumulate in a Roth IRA or Roth Account are not taxed currently and are not taxed upon a "qualified" distribution (1) made after the end of the five year period beginning with the tax year in which the first contribution or conversion to a Roth IRA was made, and (2) made after the date you attain age 59½, upon your death or disability, or as a qualified first time home buyer distribution (not applicable to Roth accounts). Distributions of earnings that do not meet the requirements above are taxable, and are generally subject to the 10% penalty tax.

PRIVATE TAX-EXEMPT EMPLOYER DEFERRED COMPENSATION PLANS

Section 457(b) deferred compensation plans sponsored by private tax-exempt employers require participants to make an irrevocable election regarding the distribution of benefits. Commencement of payments cannot be later than April 1st of the year following the year you attain age 70½ unless you are still working for the plan's sponsor. Please contact your plan administrator for more information.
